

Abstract

[0062] The present invention relates to methods and circuits for controlling outputs of one or more slave power supplies in one or more defined relationships to 5 a master signal. The defined relationships include but are not limited to coincident tracking, offset tracking, ratiometric tracking, and supply sequencing.